Escape Unhurt In Car-Truck Smash

An accident which could have resulted in serious injury to two persons occurred about 9 a.m. Monday morning at the intersection adjacent to the O. A. Law residence.

A car driven by Mrs. Isaac Brown of Linden, heading south, apparently failed to halt at the stop sign and collided with a half-ton truck, driven by Mr. A. O. Anderson, a member of a seismograph crew currently working in the district, who was proceeding west. Fortunately no one was injured.

The impact caused the truck to turn completely over and come to rest with four wheels in the air. The front end of the car, which hit the rear fender of the truck was badly smashed. Damage was estimated at $1000 to the truck and $300 to the car.

This mishap should serve as a warning to local drivers who seem to think the stop signs are put in these strategic spots just for the birds to sit on. The next time it could be you, and the results could be much more serious.

Suder - Stauffer Nuptials Held

On July 2nd, the United Missionary Church, Didsbury, was the setting for a pretty double ring ceremony when Dorothy Joy, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Stauffer, became the bride of Donald Suder, only son of Mrs. John Suder and the late Mr. Suder. Rev. Arthur Foy, uncle of the bride officiated, assisted by Rev. Ray Shantz.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in a gown of satin with lace bodice, lily point sleeves and skirt of lace and net over satin. Her fingertip length veil was held by a coronet of pearls and she carried a bouquet of red roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Joyce Archer, as maid of honor, was dressed in shrimp lace and not over taffeta. The bridesmaids were Miss Lois Suder, sister of the groom, who wore aqua taffeta with net, and Miss Eleanor Nelson, groomed in shrimp lace and net over taffeta. All three attendants carried bouquets of Ko-Ko-Mo carnations and wore matching headpieces.

Proceeding the bride down the aisle as flower girls were her two little cousins, Joyce Stauffer and Brenda Nelson, dressed in gowns of shrimp and aqua taffeta respectively and carrying baskets of pansies.

The groom's attendant was Mr. Ormond Shierick, while Mr. Ronald Wolff, the groom's cousin and Mr. Clarence Stauffer, brother of the bride, acted as ushers.

During the ceremony Rev. and Mrs. Donald Taylor sang "A Wedding Prayer" and Rev. Auburn Witt sang "Together With Jesus" as the register was signed. They were accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Arthur Eby, who provided appropriate music for the entire occasion.

The bride's mother chose a dress of grey crepe and lace with navy and white accessories and a corsage of white and Ko-Ko-Mo carnations.

The mother of the groom was attired in figured grey crepe with navy and white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

The reception was held at the Bible College, where Mrs. A. Habermeil, assisted by the Misses Marion Schafer, Grace Eby, Evelyn Nelson, Phyllis Traub, Alta Mae Oke, Ann Snyder, Aldyn and Norma Suder, served a delightful luncheon to 100 guests.

Rev. Donald Taylor acted as master of ceremonies and during the reception musical numbers were given by Mr. Ian Stauffer, Rev. and Mrs. Auburn Witt and Mr. Edward Oke.

Rev. Gordon Dedels proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom very ably responded.

The bride's travelling ensemble was a mauve suit with white and navy accessories and she wore a corsage of yellow roses. After a brief housewarming at Banff the happy couple left to take up residence in Montreal.

On behalf of Mrs. Nelson, grandmother of the bride, who was unable to attend, the entire ceremony and reception proceedings were tape recorded.

Bette Ford, former New York model and actress, who recently made her debut as a bull fighter in Plaza de Toros Juarez, Mexico, admitted she was "scared and nervous" before entering the ring. She showed courage and bravery when she killed both bulls after being down under the horns of animals four times, but each time got to her feet without injury. Ring veterans agreed, however, that the animals were "bad bulls" which gave her little chance to display her ability as a torera.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

The practical value of the spiritual truths contained in the Bible will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Truth". Scriptural selections to be read include Paul's advice to Timothy (II Timothy 2:15) "Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth".

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following passage will be read (497:3): "As adherents of Truth, we take the inspired Word of the Bible as our sufficient guide to eternal life." The Golden Text is from Isaiah (25:1): "O Lord, thou art my God; I will exalt thee, I will praise thy name; for thou hast done wonderful things; thy counsels of old are faithfulness and truth."

HIGHER AND BETTER

In the last 80 years our standard of living has increased four-fold, reports the Financial Post. It comments:

"These figures it should be noted are in terms of real income and not in fluctuating dollars. Eighty years ago the average man worked harder and longer yet was only able to maintain what we would consider a most primitive standard of living. Now in addition to all the necessities he is able to command luxuries unheard of at the time of Confederation and if they had been available only a few millionaires could have afforded them."

THE KEY NATION

The hope of the free world lies mainly in the expansion of international trade and the maintenance of prosperous conditions. Much depends on the tariff policy of the United States as to whether or not world trade will expand. President Eisenhower recommended further cuts in tariffs but he has agreed to continue the present policy for another year.

The United States is the richest and most powerful nation in the world. Its policies will have the greatest effect on world trade. That nation, within its own borders, has a great free trade area. It is self-sufficient in many respects. Nevertheless, external trade is important to its economy. One-third of the U.S. wheat production is surplus. About 10 per cent of its cotton production must find an outlet in foreign markets. External markets are needed for surplus tobacco, cotton, vegetables and citrus fruits, soybeans, rice, etc., as well as manufactured goods.

The United States possesses 50 per cent of the world's industrial capacity and its people earn half of the world's income. But if the free world suffers from a depression the United States will also suffer. Rt. Hon C. D. Howe says: "During the forthcoming year major decisions hang in the balance. To a large extent these will decide whether or not the gains of the past year will be maintained and expanded still further. One of the most important factors in this balance is the future of United States commercial policy. If the United States is in a position to actively sponsor the expansion of trade and to implement this policy with appropriate legislation, there can be little doubt that the way will be open to the further expansion of trade. ## FEEDING FROZEN GRAIN

Tests conducted at the Lethbridge experimental station showed that frozen grain provides suitable feed for livestock but it takes a greater quantity to produce the same results obtained from feeding unfrozen grain.

The effect of frost in grain is a lowering of energy value. Feeding frozen grain means somewhat lower gains but its lower cost will usually more than offset the longer feeding period. The protein value of wheat seed is not appreciably reduced by frost. What is a heavier feed than oats or barley and the amount should be reduced when fed to hogs.

Through The Study Window

By REV. C. C. ARMSTRONG

A kind friend gave me a book of modern verse, a field of literature wherein I have never wandered so much of it is appealing but other portions I find utterly beyond my understanding. Here is a sample of the latter:

"No worst, there is none. Pitched past pitch of grief,
More pangs will, schooled at forepans,
wilder bring."

So far as I can figure it out the author means to tell us that there is nothing so bad that it couldn't be worse, and the worst is yet to come. But if this interpretation is correct, we might ask: why spend so much time and effort to make poetry out of so barren a sentiment. If a person is down in the dumps, it is a perfectly understandable feeling. If one has to invent such a work of forepans (which doesn't appear in any ordinary dictionary), we are dealing in a very artificial realm.

In the Banff School of Fine Arts there are a number of pictures that also take a bit of figuring out. One of these is entitled "Morraine Lake," which is one of the loveliest spots of the Rockies. It is pictured in an abstract way, to give the impression of masses of colour, but without the label to picture, one would never be able to identify the scene, in real life, which inspired this remarkable creation. One part of it looks for all the world like a slather of ice cream in a sundae, topped off with a marshmallow cherry. What is it? The sun setting red back of a snow-capped peak? Could be!

Another picture in the collection leaves no doubt in one's mind what is being shown. It is a collection of old garbage cans at the back of a shack, done very realistically in differing tones of grey, minus the accompanying smells of course. I don't recall whether the artist indicated the location of his, or her, models. Why should he?

How and why can these things be? Why not be impressionistic about garbage and realistic about mountains and lakes? If the artist is simply seeking to escape from the common-place and the routine in his drawing, need it be pointed out that the refuse can is much more common than the beauty spots within the mountains.

One of the significant things about the Bible is that it is true to life, both in its dealing with the garbage of sin and with the transforming beauty of God's spirit at work in the human soul. Which is more stirring — "pitched past pitch of grief" or Job's words, lamenting his wretched condition, wishing he had never been born, asking "Why is light given to him that is in misery, and life to the bitter in soul?" If the Bible is read, simply as literature, and apart from any thought of its Divine nature, it yet remains as a supreme example of what to say and how to say it.

BOARD
NOTES

W. K. Snyder
Field Supervisor

24-D — It is surprising to me that there are still some people who are not familiar with 24-D as an herbicide to control certain weeds. They will still summer fallow half of their acres every year to control such weeds as thistle. This practice is effective but it is too costly. When you consider that only half the acreage is in crop. 24-D properly applied in quantity and at the right stage of growth will work miracles.
This year especially we see an unusual infestation of weeds, mostly Canada thistle. This is partly an aftermath of an unusually wet and backward spring. Proper tillage operations were limited and in some cases impossible.

Our advice is that if you have a high weed population in your crops make plans to spray them with 24-D. The cost per acre will be saved many times over by eliminating these weeds from your grain crops. Application rate depends somewhat on the variety of your grain crop, on the stage of growth of both the weeds and the grain, and also on the brand or type of Ester or Amine which you use.

There are also some farmers who have sprayed their crops in other years and who were not satisfied with the results. Either the results were ineffective weed control or crop damage. For this reason they are afraid to use 24-D again. These unsatisfactory results could usually be traced to the use of the wrong brand of chemical, application at the wrong stage. Don't forget, we are here to help you solve your problems. Feel free to ask for advice if you aren't sure how to use 24-D.

A. WILLIAMS LIKELY
SUNDRE CAR WINNER

Although Bill Weidner had the only black-out at Sundre on the evening of July 3rd when the final numbers in the Sundre car bingo were drawn, he was quickly eclipsed on Monday morning, July 5 when George Orme Jr. reported a bingo on the 58th number.

But officials of the Sundre Play-at-Home Bingo tell us that right now the man in the driver's seat of their new Ford is Mr. A. Williams of Westward Ho, who has a black-out that came on the 55th number.

The project, under the joint sponsorship of the Sundre Branch of the Canadian Legion and the Sundre Elks Lodge is reported to have been a successful one.

Notes From D.A.

By Hugh McPhail

Raising Dairy Calves: Raising dairy calves for replacements at lower cost is one thing they are trying at the Lethbridge Experimental Station, and it seems to be working well. The experiment is not yet completed, but Dr. F. Whiting and R. D.
Clark, who are doing the work are keenly interested in the trend.

It usually takes between 350 and 500 lbs. of whole milk and around 2000 lbs. of skim milk to raise a dairy calf. If the scientists argued a cheaper feed could be substituted for the skim milk, money would be saved.

All normal female calves born at the Lethbridge Experimental Station since April 1952 have been used in this project. They have been divided into three groups. All groups receive whole milk until they are three weeks old.

Group 1 then receives skim milk for the next 13 weeks, together with the usual solid feed. Groups 2 and 3 receive no skim milk at all; instead, they are given water and a specially prepared calf meal. This meal contains no expensive supplement. The only difference between groups 2 and 3 is that antibiotics are added to the ration of group 3.

Surprisingly little difference in growth has resulted. Weight, heart girth and height are measured periodically. At 16 weeks of age, in 1, 2, 3 group order, weights have averaged 284, 258 and 268 lbs.; heart girth, 43.3, 42.2 and 42.6 inches; height, 37.2, 36.5 and 36.5 inches. Carrying through 52 weeks of age we have the following figures, again in 1, 2, 3 group order: weight 717, 694 and 758 lbs.; heart girth, 61.6, 60.4 and 62.2 inches; height 47.0, 47.2 and 46.8 inches.

It will be another year or so before definite conclusions can be drawn.
Dr. Whiting reports, and the above is by way of a progress report only.
There is, however, definite indication of substantial savings for the dairy calf raiser and future announcements will be awaited with interest.

CHRYSLER-METHOD REMANUFACTURED ENGINES ARE NEW AND DIFFERENT

HERE'S WHY . . .

They're precision built to Chrysler Factory Standards. Remanufacturing plants were designed and laid out by Chrysler factory engineers and employ factory-trained mechanics.

All parts which fail to meet Chrysler engineering specifications are replaced with NEW factory-engineered parts.

All engines have NEW crankshafts—there is no regrinding. Very different from the usual "re-built" engine.

Special Chrysler production-type gauges check tolerances of new and used parts as closely as one ten-thousandth of an inch.

All engines, when remanufactured,
are dynamometer-tested to the same standards as those applied to NEW Chrysler-built engines.

WEDDINGS

REMPEL — VOTH

Rev. Nick Priesen came from Vancouver Island to officiate at the wedding of his niece, Martha Voth, when she recently became the bride of Albert Rempel.

The wedding, which united in marriage the eldest daughter of Mrs. Maria Voth of Chilliwack and the elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rempel of Didsbury, was solemnized in the United Mennonite church where an effective setting had been arranged with white daisies, trailing ivy and ferns. Miss Frieda Fast played the wedding music.

Escorted to the altar by her brother, Peter Voth, the bride was gown in creamy white broadcloth satin. Rhinestone trimming distinguished the rounded neckline of the long-sleeved fitted bodice which was complemented with full floor-length skirt. A beaded coronet held the bride's finger-tip veil and she carried a heart-shaped bouquet of yellow roses. For jewelry, the bride wore a rhinestone necklace.

Miss Betty Voth, who was her sister's bridesmaid, wore an attractive ballerina length frock of yellow net over taffeta and she carried a starland of ivy and Stephanotis.

Henry Rempel of Didsbury was his brother's best man. The ushers were Wally Dick and Arnold Fast.

Five hundred guests attended the reception held in the church dining hall enlivened with white wedding bells and white and yellow streamers. Servers at the wedding supper were Miss Mary Dyck, Miss Dorothy Burman, Miss Mary Peters, Miss Helen Goertzen, Miss Ann Neufeld, George Dyck, Dick Rempel and Abe Thiessen.

Upon their return from a wedding trip south, the bride and groom will reside at 317 Edwards St., Chilliwack.

Coming to the wedding from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. H. Rempel, Helen and Henry, Didsbury; Mr. and Mrs. P. Bolzer and John Mayfair, Sask.; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Voth and family, Mr. and Mrs. N. Priesen and family and P. Derksen, all of Vancouver Island.

The Joke Box...

Manager: Why did you leave your last job?

Applicant: Illness.

Manager: What kind of illness?

Applicant: My boss said he was sick of me.

The Scot is frequently the goat when jokes are on tap, but not always. Listen to this:

In an English political oration: "I was born an Englishman. I have lived an Englishman. I hope I shall die an Englishman." From the back of the hall in an unmistakable accent, came the question,

"Mon, hae ye no ambition?"

Little Bobby had eaten unsparingly of cake, candy, nuts, popcorn and fruit at the party.

"Will you have a little more cake now?" asked his hostess.

"No, thank you, Mrs. Jones. I'm full," he replied.

"Then," said the hostess, "you will put some nuts and candies into your pockets, won't you?"

"They're full, too," he said regretfully.

"I represent the Mountain Wool Company, Madam. Would you be interested in some coarse yarns?"

"Gosh, yes. Come right in and tell me a couple."

Who's Behind It?

In a survey of public opinion in Hamilton and its suburbs, the Canadian Institute of Public Opinion finds that:

1. Nine out of ten people believe that higher wages do result in higher prices for the products of labor.

2. Seven out of ten people believe it would be unwise to press for higher wages in plants where workers are being laid off.

3. One out of ten persons believes it would be wise to do so.

4. Six out of ten union members believe it would be unwise.

Our interpretation of these answers is that the people of Hamilton believe that the number of workers the Canadian people will employ depends on the prices our industries charge for their products, and the higher prices so the fewer people will be employed.

It follows, that in the opinion of Hamilton folk the Canadian railway workers, automobile workers, steel workers, and a great many other workers are pursuing an unwise course in demanding wage increases at the present time, for men are being laid off in all these industries.

Yet the drive for higher wages still goes on. Who is behind it? If the Institute's survey is accurate, the pressure cannot be coming from the majority of the union members. It could be coming from an aggressive minority, or it could be coming from the union bosses, whoever they may be or wherever located.

"Well, my son, what did you learn in Sunday School today?"

"We learned all about the cross-eyed bear."

"About a what?"

"Yes, sir, named Gladly. We learned a song about him: 'Gladly the cross I'd bear.'"

CROP REPORT

Following a week of almost ideal growing weather, the Alberta Wheat pool reports that about 45 per cent of the wheat crop in this province has reached the shot blade stage. In south-eastern Alberta heading is general and at a number of points between Lethbridge and Medicine Hat as much as 50 per cent of the spring wheat is headed. Along the eastern side of the province and in the Peace River area early sown wheat is also beginning to head.

The average height of wheat is now reported to be 11 inches compared with 15 inches at this time a year ago. There are indications that crops will not be as tall as those last year since many fields are heading while still comparatively short.

The pool places the numerical condition of wheat and barley at 91 and oats at 90, down slightly from last year but it points out that yields in the province a year ago were almost 50 per cent above the long-time average.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Card of Saskatoon, recently married, called at the Herb Goetjen home on Monday evening to visit with their sister-in-law, Mrs. Ken Card.
